Meſſieurs HALL and SELLERS,

SEVERAL of my Acquaintance, who are your Cuſtomers, and who wiſh to ſee what paſſed between his Honour the Governor and the Aſſembly at their laſt Sitting, relative to the Fortification at Deep Water Iſland, near the Mouth of Schuylkill, and wanting to know how the Fifteen Thouſand Pounds, granted ſome Years ſince for the Defence of the City of Philadelphia, have been expended, have prevailed on me to requeſt you will be pleaſed to inſert the following Extracts from the Votes of Aſſembly, of what then paſſed, together with the Account of the ſaid Money, as drawn for by the Commiſſioners, with the Conſent and Approbation of the Governors, which I find to be as herewith ſent you. I am, Gentlemen,

Feb. 17, 1774. Your moſt humble Servant, L. S.

In ASSEMBLY, Friday, January 21, 1774. A. M.

The Governor by the Secretary ſent down the following Meſſage.

GENTLEMEN,

I AM to inform you, that the Commiſſioners appointed by an Act of General Aſſembly, paſſed in the Eleventh Year of His preſent Majeſty, and impowered, with the Conſent and Approbation of the Governor, to apply and diſpoſe of the Sum of Fifteen Thouſand Pounds, theretofore granted, for and towards the building ſuch Fortifications as might be neceſſary for the Security of the City of Philadelphia, have lately laid before me their Accounts; by which it appears to me, that they have expended the whole Sum appropriated to that Uſe, in the Purchaſe of a ſmall Iſland, about Eight Miles down the River, moſt conveniently ſituated for the Purpoſe intended, and in conſtructing a great Part of ſuch a Fortification, as by the Opinion and Advice of a ſkillful Engineer, recommended by General Gage, was abſolutely neceſſary to anſwer the End propoſed.

You will, on Enquiry, find that the Work, ſo far as it has been executed, is done in a maſterly Manner; and that Materials to a conſiderable Value are on the Spot, ready to continue it as ſoon as the Seaſon will admit.

The Plan of the Fort, and the Commiſſioners Accompts, will be laid before you, by which you will perceive what remains to be done, in what Manner the Money has been diſpoſed of, and how much is yet in Arrear to the Workmen, &c. From hence you will be enabled to judge what further Sum will be wanting to complete a Work, which has for many Years been conſidered by the Legiſlature of this Province, as an Object of the greateſt Importance for the Defence and Protection of this populous and flouriſhing City, againſt His Majeſty's Enemies, in Time of War.

I think it incumbent on me, Gentlemen, to recommend this Matter to your moſt ſerious Conſideration, and to requeſt that you will make the proper Proviſion for carrying on and compleating this important Work in the moſt ſpeedy and effectual Manner; in which you may be aſſured of my hearty Concurrence.

Saturday, January 22, 1774. A. M.

The House met, pursuant to Adjournment.

The Committee appointed to prepare and bring in a Draught of an Answer to the Governor's Message of Yesterday, reported an Essay for that Purpose, which being read, and agreed to, was signed by the Speaker, and follows in these Words, viz.

May it please your Honour,

OUR Sitting being protracted far beyond our Expectations, and many of our Members desirous of returning to their Families, where their private Concerns call for their Attention, we are inclined to adjourn agreeable to our Message of Thursday last, which renders it impracticable to command, during this Sitting, Time sufficient fully to deliberate on the Measure, recommended in your's of Yesterday. Nevertheless, as we think it but just that the Money in Arrear to the Workmen, and others concerned in building the Fortification, should be immediately paid, and have not Time to prepare and pass a Bill before our Adjournment, we have entered into the Resolves herewith communicated, which, we hope, should they meet with your Approbation, will answer that Purpose.

From the UNIVERSAL MAGAZINE, for July, 1773.

An Account of the Trial, on the 12th of July, at Guildhall, before Mr. Justice Gould and a Special Jury, between Antonio Fabrigas, a Native of Minorca, and General M------, Governor of that Island.

THE action was brought against General M----- for false imprisonment, and banishment of the plaintiff, in the year 1771, from Minorca to Carthagena, in the dominions of the King of Spain, without any reasonable or probable cause, and against the plaintiff's will; and the damages were laid at 10,000l. The defendant pleaded, 1st, not guilty; 2dly, a special plea of justification, viz. that at the time when the cause of action arose he was Governor of Minorca, and did hold and exercise all the powers, privileges and authorities, civil and military, belonging and relating to the Government of the said island; and that the plaintiff was guilty of a riot and disturbance of the peace, and was endeavouring to raise a mutiny and sedition among the inhabitants. To this the plaintiff replied, that the defendant committed the said trespass and assault of his own wrong, and without such causes as he alledged in his plea; and thereupon, issue being joined, the cause was tried.

The plaintiff's case was briefly opened by Mr. Peckham, and enlarged upon by Mr. Serjeant Glynn, who forbore however mentioning any thing but the circumstances of the plaintiff's imprisonment, which he represented as aggravated by every possible hardship, cruelty and rigour: He then called five witnesses on behalf of the plaintiff. four of whom were the guard placed over the plaintiff at Minorca. They proved his having been confined in a dungeon, wherein only capital offenders were used to be kept; all admittance refused to his wife and family, who came to bring him food and bedding, which were also denied him: That he lived upon bread and water during the six days he was in prison, and lay on the bare floor of the prison, with no covering over him. The witnesses never remembered any, even the most capital offender, treated with such severity, as they were allowed bedding, and meat and drink. They said the plaintiff lived like a Gentleman on the island, and they never heard to the contrary of his being a peaceable, quiet subject. Other witnesses were ready to prove the imprisonment, and likewise his being sent to Carthagena; upon which Mr. Serjeant Davy, one of the Counsel for the defendant, got up, and said it was unnecessary to trouble the Court with their evidence, as he readily admitted on the side of the defendant the imprisonment as above stated, and likewise the banishment of the plaintiff. No other evidence being therefore called, Mr. Serjeant Davy addressed the Jury in a very long speech, wherein, among other things, he endeavoured to establish the following case for the defendant:

" That the island of Minorca, being formerly part of the dominions of the Crown of Spain, by the treaty of Utrecht, in the year 1713, was ceded to the Crown of Great-Britain, and has continued part of the dominions of the Crown of Great-Britain ever since, except while it was in the possession of the French last war: That, soon after the island was ceded, the inhabitants petitioned to have a confirmation of their privileges, practices and customs, by which the island had been always governed during the time of the Spanish command, which was accordingly granted to them; but his Majesty in Council has ever since made such regulations for the better management of the internal police of the island as appeared necessary: That it was the construction of one of these regulations that had given rise to the present action. An order of the Privy Council was made in the year 1752, and transmitted to Minorca, to regulate the sale of wine in the island, which enacted, among other things, " that the natives and inhabitants be at all times permitted to sell their wine at or under the afforation price (which was a stated regular market price) without any intervention of the Governor, or any person acting under his authority." That it appeared, however, that this order did not extend to St. Philip's, the district of the island in which the plaintiff Fabrigas lived. Within that district the Governor had from time to time made such regulations, with respect to the sale of wine, as to him appeared proper; and at that very time, in the year 1771, an order of Governor Johnson's was in force, which only allowed a certain number of wine-houses to be opened at a time; and that the inhabitants should ballot for the selling of their wine. There is an Officer, called Mustasaph, in this district, whose duty it is to inspect and regulate the several markets, and to grant licences for the sale of wine; and it was pretended that he had behaved to the plaintiff in a manner inconsistent with the duty of his office, by refusing him the liberty of selling his wine under the afforation price, and therefore a complaint was exhibited by Fabrigas to the defendant, Governor M------, against the Mustasaph; wherein he asserted his demand to be very reasonable, and conformable to the express disposition of the order of the year 1752, which says, " that the inhabitants shall be permitted to sell at the price of the afforation, or under it." The Governor ordered the Mustasaph to answer this charge, which he did to the Governor's satisfaction. Fabrigas upon this presented a second petition to the Governor, which being referred to the Law-officers of the island, they made an unfavourable report of it. Upon which he presented a third, complaining of the Judges, and seemed determined to force Governor M------ to take some steps against him, of which he might take an undue advantage. This having no effect, he presented a fourth to the Governor's Aid de Camp, and told him, that he would back it, or get it backed, by 150 or 200 men, at the head of whom he would come to the Governor's the next day for an answer. This message being told to the Governor, it alarmed him much, and as he knew the turbulent disposition of the plaintiff, he conceived it as a menacing and hostile purpose, and therefore the next day called a Council of his Officers, who were unanimously of opinion, that the plaintiff was a dangerous person, and that a mutiny and sedition would arise if he continued longer in the island; upon which he was seized, imprisoned, and at the end of six days sent out of the island to Carthagena."

This was the matter and substance of the defence. Serjeant Davy talked a great deal besides, about the characters of the plaintiff and defendant, and said, that some of the most respectable personages in the kingdom were ready (if found necessary) to prove the humane, tender, and amiable character of the Governor, meaning a list of 26 Noblemen and Gentlemen, who were subpœnaed for that purpose; whereas the evidence produced, would prove the plaintiff to be a dissolute immoral person, of a seditious and turbulent nature and disposition. The witnesses on behalf of the defendant, viz. James Wright, Esq; Secretary to the Governor; John Pleydell, Esq; his Aid de Camp; Robert Hudson, Esq; Fort Adjutant, &c. were then called, who proved the facts stated in Serjeant Davy's speech, and spoke to the badness of the plaintiff's character, and the excellency of the defendant's. They deposed likewise that the authority of the Governor was arbitrary and unlimited on the island---that his proclamations had the force of laws, and inflicted penalties and punishments on such as dared to disobey them.

Serjeant Glynn then arose, and made his reply to the following effect: " That, since he had addressed the Court and Jury last, the cause had been perplexed and purposely directed from its true meaning, to an inquiry foreign to the real question; which question was, whether the plaintiff, a subject of Great-Britain, circumstanced as has been proved, was intitled to have redress for the injuries he had suffered from an English Jury?---That every consideration of the characters of plaintiff and defendant, other than what arose from the case then under consideration, should be dismissed from the attention of the Jury; that he had made no malicious or uncandid inquiries into Governor M------'s character, nor pretended to question the existence of those virtues and excellencies, that his advocates and adherents had so liberally expatiated upon and held up to public view, nor made any comment upon his behaviour, but such as of necessity resulted from the present question---that he should have been happy, had the same caution and circumspection been observed on the other side, instead of that ungenerous mode of procedure which he now complained of. A native of Minorca, though a subject of England, yet a stranger to our country, our language and customs, comes here to seek redress from an English Jury, for his cruel and ill treatment abroad, in the Court where his adversary's defence is made; a principle article of that defence is the plaintiff's immoral and flagitious character. This unhappy foreigner is thought not to have suffered a sufficient degree of punishment, by his rigorous confinement in the dungeon, and banishment from his native country, and the society of his family and friends, but new modes of torture are added.---His domestic character is ransacked---he is charged with crimes, which arraign his conduct as a father, a husband, a citizen---he is most ignominiously traduced by every method of illegal cruelty, more fatal to his repose and happiness, than the utmost excess of corporal sufferings.---In such a case as this, the Serjeant said, " he felt somewhat beyond the line of an advocate---the feelings of humanity were warmly interested on the occasion, and he hoped they would not claim the attention of the Jury in vain."

The defence, however, set up and principally urged in behalf of General Mostyn, is, that the plaintiff is a dangerous and seditious man; that his behaviour was such as threatened even the loss of the island; that he pursued Governor M------ with an improper importunity, and endeavoured to avail himself of a popular disaffection among the Minorquins to the English government; that he threatened to come at the head of 150 or 200 men to receive an answer to his last petition, as if he meant to appear at the head of an armed force; that the island would have been in danger, had the plaintiff continued in it; the defendant's Counsel should certainly have proved the existence, or, at least, the probability of such considerations, before they proceeded to vindicate his conduct upon them. The plaintiff's petitions to the Governor have been read in Court; they are expressed in very submissive and respectable terms, and do not convey the least idea of a seditious or turbulent purpose. The charge of his saying that he would appear at the head of 150 or 200 men is sufficiently explained even by one of the defendant's own witnesses, Mr. Pleydell, who says that he did not think the plaintiff meant, by such a declaration, any hostile or mutinous purpose, but merely intended to produce that body of men, to shew that he was not singular in his wish to have Governor Johnson's regulation altered, but that he said 150 or 200 men were of the same opinion with him, and would back his petition: That, if any different construction could be, or was put upon this declaration, an inquiry should certainly have been made after this body of men, and the Governor not have rested satisfied with the punishment inflicted on the plaintiff, as long as he thought that the plaintiff had 150 or 200 adherents behind him in arms, mutinous and disaffected: Had the Governor conceived the island to have been in any danger (which his Counsel declare he did, and that he was driven to act as he did, in consequence of such an opinion) is it probable to believe, that he made no inquiry after this body of malecontents? That the plaintiff had acted upon no other motive than that warmth of inclination, which every man must feel, who knows himself injured, and has the mortification to find, as an addition to his sufferings, his complaints unheard, and his grievances unredressed. Even if his warmth had betrayed him into some unguarded behaviour or language (which however had not been proved) still the defendant's conduct towards him was not justifiable, and even if the law of Spain allowed his being banished from his native place of residence, yet it gave no sanction to the cruelty of his previous imprisonment, nor justified the severity of his being punished without even the ceremony of judicial process. In this the form as well as spirit of law was lost. That such illegal punishment without the forms of trial or judicial examination, and inflicted merely upon report, required great and exemplary damages. The defence of Governor Mostyn, the Serjeant said, was guarded by a prefatory vindication of the defendant's conduct, which declines the jurisdiction of an English Jury, and tells them that such conduct was strictly conformable to the rules and maxims of arbitrary power, and therefore not cognizable by their authority and jurisdiction; that if arbitrary power is avowed and exercised in any part of the British dominions, a British tribunal is not to examine into and punish it; but the true reason why Governor M------ tells the Jury that they are incompetent for the examination of this question is, because this is the tribunal he must ever dread, as this it is which has always been the terror of evil Ministers, and the scourge of arbitrary power. He then proved in an able manner that the consideration of the Jury should be built on a broad and extensive foundation, and said that the power of the King could never be delegated to a Governor of even a conquered island, to alter laws in an arbitrary manner; and that, if such a construction was put to a patent that passed the seal, he hoped to see the day when the Minister, that passed such patent, should answer it with his head, it being repugnant to every idea of law and justice; that, if this power had been long acquiesced in and established on the island, it it was now high time to put a stop to it, as no precedent could justify oppression, nor give a sanction to the illegal exercise of authority; and that if no other method could be found out, to secure the island, and preserve our trade in the Mediterranean, but the exercise of that power, which was now the subject of complaint, he freely gave his consent, that the whole should be sacrificed, and would admit of no idea of preference to purchase or preserve them at the expence of humanity, justice and law; that a Governor could not act in a legislative capacity without receiving instructions from home, the union of the legislative and executive authority being an union that the law abhorred; and that a Bashaw of Egypt would have lost his head, had he presumed to act in the manner Governor M------ had done. He then enlarged upon the evidence given to prove the defendant's conduct justifiable under the Spanish laws, and after very severely commenting upon the circumstance of a number of Red Coats coming to tell the English Jury what was law at Minorca, and remarking on the miserable state of those wretched lawyers who lived in an island where laws are unnecessary (if the idea of the Governor's absolute power be admitted) and their slavish doctrines and opinion, that the Governor's power extended over this unhappy man in any shape that he pleased, so that immediate execution, perpetual imprisonment, or the most painful death that inventive torture could inflict, would have been as justifiable to the full as banishment. He answered the argument alledged on the other side, that the island of Minorca would be a very insecure possession, unless military discipline and the strictest system of authority was adhered to, by declaring it to be his opinion, that the affections of the Minorquins would be sooner and more easily reconciled to our government, by admitting them, with the other subjects of Great-Britain, to a free participation of the privilege of having their complaints heard, and their grievances redressed, by the verdict of a British, Jury, and by their being taught the blessings of the English law, than by their being kept under the rigour of military discipline, and being ruled by the coercive sway of a rod of iron."

This was the material part of the Serjeant's reply. Mr. Justice Gould then summed up the evidence to the Jury with minuteness and accuracy; he hinted his opinion that the defendant should have pleaded in abatement to the jurisdiction of Courts, how far a Governor of a conquered island, which island had petitioned for a continuance of their native laws, was amenable before an English judicature at Guildhall, on the complaint of a native of such conquered island, and how the jurisdiction of such Court had cognizance of the complaint. Towards the conclusion of his speech, he observed how very necessary it certainly was for the Governor of an island, answerable with his life for the proper execution of the important trust committed to his charge, to check the first seeds and appearance of mutiny and sedition in the island-----but at the same time spoke much in favour of that express provision in Magna Charta, which says, Nullus liber homo exuleter, and mentioned Lord Coke's opinion, that the King cannot even send a man Lord Lieutenant to Ireland against his will, since that might be only a more honourable banishment. His Lordship, however, humourously observed, there were few, he believed, that would, in the present age, recoil at the royal proposal. He entered a little into the doctrine of conquered islands, and the laws relating to them; but, as he forbore being decisive on the point, his observation is here omitted.

The Jury then withdrew, and in about two hours time brought in their verdict for Mr. Fabrigas the plaintiff, with 3000l. damages.

The defendant's Counsel then tendered a bill of exceptions, which is in the nature of a writ of error, lying to the Court of King's Bench; which after some altercation was admitted, and remains to be argued before the Judges of the Court of King's-Bench, wherein the validity of the jurisdiction of the Court, and the objections stated by Mr. Gould, will be examined into and decided."

BOSTON, February 7, 1774.

In the House of REPRESENTATIVES, Feb. 5, 1774.

Ordered, that Mr. Adams, Mr. Phillips, Col. Bowers, Col. Warren, and Col. Lincoln, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency the Governor, with the following answer to his speech to both Houses at the opening of this session.

May it please your Excellency,

YOUR speech to both Houses, at the opening of this session, has been duly considered in the House of Representatives.

The equitable adjustment of the disputes which have subsisted between the English inhabitants of the town of Edgartown, and the Indians of Martha's Vineyard, respecting the claim to the island Chappoquiddeck, had the particular attention of the two Houses of this Assembly in the last session. A Committee was then appointed to repair to the place in the recess of the Court, and report the circumstances of that affair. Their report is daily expected, and we trust that the difference will be settled to the reasonable satisfaction of the Indians before the close of the present session.

With pleasure we hear from your Excellency, that there is reason to expect his Majesty's confirmation of the settlement of the western line of this Province, where it is bounded on the eastern line of the province of New-York. This settlement not only tends to bring to an issue a dispute, which has been the source of much mischief, but also to establish harmony between his Majesty's colonies; upon which their own safety and welfare, as well as the interest of Great-Britain, at this juncture more especially, so much depends.

It affords great satisfaction to this House to find, that his Majesty has been pleased to put an end to an undue claim heretofore made by the Governors of this Province, grounded upon a supposition, that the consent of the chair was necessary to the validity of the judicial acts of the Governor and Council. Whereby their proceedings, when sitting as the Supreme Court of Probate, and as the Court for determining in cases of marriage and divorce, have been so often impeded. The royal order, that the Governor shall acquiesce in the determination of the majority of the Council, respects not the Council only, but the body of the people of this province. And his Majesty has therein shewn his regard to justice, as well as the interest and convenience of his subjects, in rescuing a clause in the charter from a construction, which, in the opinion of this House, was repugnant to the express meaning and intent of the charter, inconsistent with the idea of a Court of Justice, and dangerous to the rights and property of the subject.

Your Excellency is pleased to inform the two Houses, that you are required to signify to them, his Majesty's disapprobation of the appointment of Committees of Correspondence, in various instances, which sit and act during the recess of the General Court by prorogation. You are not pleased to explain to us the grounds and reasons of his Majesty's disapprobation: Until we shall have such explanation laid before us, a full answer to this part of your speech, will not be expected from us. We cannot however omit saying upon this occasion, that while the common rights of the American subjects continue to be attacked in various instances, and at times when the several Assemblies are not sitting, it is highly necessary that they should correspond with each other, in order to unite in the most effectual means for the obtaining a redress of their grievances. And as the sittings of the General Assemblies in this, and most of the colonies, depends upon the pleasure of the Governors, who hold themselves under the direction of Administration, it is to be expected, that the meeting of the Assemblies will be so ordered, as that the intention proposed by a correspondence between them will be impracticable, but by Committees to to sit and act in the recess. We would moreover observe, that, as it has been the practice for years past, for the Governor and Lieutenant Governor of this province, and other officers of the Crown, at all times to correspond with Ministers of State and persons of distinction and influence in the nation, in order to concert and carry on such measures of the British Administration, as have been deemed by the colonists to be grievous to them, it cannot be thought unreasonable or improper for the colonists to correspond with their Agents, as well as with each other; to the end that their grievances may be so explained to his Majesty, as that in his justice he may afford them necessary relief. As this province has heretofore felt the great misfortune of the displeasure of our Sovereign by means of misrepresentations, permit us further to say, there is room to apprehend his Majesty has in this instance been misinformed: And that there are good grounds to suspect, that those who have misinformed him have had in meditation further measures destructive to the colonies, which they were apprehensive would be defeated by means of Committees of Correspondence sitting and acting in the recess of the respective Assemblies.

It must be pleasing to the good people of this province to find, that the heavy debt, which had been incurred by their liberal aids through the course of the late war, for the subduing his Majesty's inveterate enemies, and extending his territory and dominion in America, is so nearly discharged. Whenever the House of Representatives shall deem it incumbent upon them to provide for any future charges, it will be done, as it ought, by such ways and means as, after due deliberation, to them shall seem meet.

In the mean time, this House will employ the powers with which they are intrusted, in supporting his Majesty's just authority in the province, according to the Royal Charter, and in dispatching ſuch public buſineſs, as now properly lies before us. And while we purſue ſuch meaſures, as tend, by God's bleſſing, to the redreſs of grievances, and to the reſtoration and eſtabliſhment of the public liberty, we perſuade ourſelves that we ſhall at the ſame time, as far as in us lies, moſt effectually ſecure the tranquility and good order of the government, and the great end for which it was inſtituted, the ſafety and welfare of the people.

NEW-YORK, February 17.

The Buſineſs of Kayaſhota, the great Ohio Chief, accompanied by ſeveral other principal Indians, with Sir William Johnſon, Bart. was to deliver the Subſtance of ſeveral Conferences, held amongſt the Indians at and near the Ohio, whither he is returned with ſeveral Speeches, Belts, &c. from Sir William, tending to produce a Change in the Conduct of thoſe, who have lately been diſpoſed to create Troubles in that Quarter; and the Indians to the Northward have, on their Parts, ſent ſome ſpirited Meſſages to thoſe unruly People.

We are informed the Inhabitants of Canada have ſent over to England a Petition, praying for the Eſtabliſhment of a Legiſlature in that Province.

Letters by Monday's Poſt from Boſton intimate his Excellency Governor Hutchinſon's Intentions of embarking for England, upon the Cloſe of the preſent Seſſion of the Great and General Court.

A Sloop, ſaid to be from Hiſpaniola for New-London, is aſhore at Barnegat; the Cargoe is ſaved, but the Veſſel loſt.

PHILADELPHIA, February 23.

To his Excellency WILLIAM FRANKLIN, Eſq; Captain-General, Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over his Majeſty's Colony of Nova-Cæſarea, or New-Jerſey, and Territories thereon depending in America, Chancellor and Vice-Admiral in the ſame, &c.

The humble ADDRESS of the REPRESENTATIVES of the ſaid Colony, in General Aſſembly convened,

May it pleaſe your EXCELLENCY,

WE, his Majeſty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Repreſentatives of the Colony of New-Jerſey, in General Aſſembly convened, ſenſible of the Advantages ariſing from the Detection of the Gangs of Villains, concerned in the making of a baſe Kind of Half Johannes's and Spaniſh Dollars, and in the Counterfeiting of the Paper Currencies of this and the neighbouring Colonies, receive with Pleaſure your Excellency's Congratulations on the Stop, which has been put to the further Progreſs of thoſe atrocious Crimes.

Though it gives us Concern to hear of the Eſcape of ſome of each Gang, yet as we hope thoſe Eſcapes have not happened thro' the Neglect of any of the Officers of this Government, or, if that has been the Caſe, that a Matter of ſo much Importance to the due Execution of Juſtice has not only been fully enquired into, but alſo puniſhed in an exemplary Manner, we are ſatisfied with and return your Excellency our Thanks for the Aſſurance, which you have been pleaſed to give us, that "no Endeavours, "on your Part, ſhall be wanting to have thoſe, who eſcaped, ap"prehended and brought to Juſtice."

It would give us Pleaſure to be able to join your Excellency in Opinion, that the Robbery of the Eaſtern Treaſury had been brought to Light; but, after having conſidered your Excellency's Meſſage of the 29th of November, and examined the Papers laid before us, we cannot but think that this Affair ſtill remains in an Obſcurity, which we muſt leave to Time to unravel.

We have taken into our Conſideration the Requiſitions made to ſupport Government, and to ſupply the King's Troops ſtationed in this Colony, and have already come to ſuch Reſolutions, as the Honour of the Province and our Duty ſeem at preſent to require.

Being perſuaded that nothing has "a Chance to contribute "more" to the Promotion of the public Welfare, than a Harmony between the ſeveral Branches of the Legiſlature, we thank your Excellency for the Promiſe you are pleaſed to give, to cultivate it as much as is in your Power, and we hope that you will always find us diſpoſed to do every Thing which can be reaſonably aſked, that may have a Tendency to preſerve the Harmony, which you are pleaſed to mention to us as productive of Happineſs to yourſelf, and may be of real Benefit to the Colony.

Houſe of Aſſembly, Feb. 10, 1774. By Order of the Houſe, CORTLAND SKINNER, Speaker.

To which his EXCELLENCY was pleaſed to give the following ANSWER,

GENTLEMEN,

I AM happy to find that my Speech contained any Thing, which you could "receive with Pleaſure," and I ſhould have been ſtill happier had you (as the Council did) beſtowed your Commendations on thoſe public ſpirited Gentlemen, to whoſe active Zeal and Abilities you, and the Public in general, are indebted for the Occaſion of thoſe Congratulations, which have met with ſo pleaſing a Reception in your Houſe.

But I am ſorry to obſerve, that though you are not diſpoſed to approve, yet you have no Averſion to inſinuate Charges againſt the Officers of Government. What Officers you allude to, as having through Negligence been the Means of letting ſome of each Gang eſcape, I know not. Every one, I believe, of the Gang of Coiners, that was taken, was tried, and ſuch of them, as were convicted, were puniſhed; thoſe of them, who eſcaped out of the Province, were never in the Cuſtody of any Officer, but went off as ſoon as they heard their Practices were diſcovered. Nor has there more than one of thoſe, who were apprehended for being concerned in the Counterfeiting Buſineſs, eſcaped from any Officer of Government, and that Officer, an Under-Sheriff, was ſoon after removed by his Superior. But as I afterwards received a Repreſentation from the Under-Sheriff, containing ſundry Charges againſt the High-Sheriff's Conduct on that Occaſion, I ordered him to be furniſhed with a Copy of it, and to let me know what he had to offer in his Vindication. This he did in a Letter, or Memorial, accompanied with ſundry Affidavits, which I laid before the Council, who were of Opinion, that the Charges contained in the Repreſentation were not ſupported. However, being informed that a Bill of Indictment was found by the Grand Jury of Morris againſt the Sheriff, reſpecting the Eſcape of Ford, Orders were given to the Attorney General to proſecute the ſame at the next Court. If you know of any other Officer of Government, who is ſuppoſed to have been remiſs in his Duty in that important Affair, it would become you better to name him to me, that I may cauſe a particular Inquiry to be made into his Conduct, than to throw out a general Inſinuation, which may happen to be applied to the Innocent as well as to the Guilty.---Had you not refuſed to enable me to ſend in Purſuit of thoſe, who eſcaped from Juſtice, my Endeavours to have them apprehended might ere now have been attended with the deſired Succeſs;---at leaſt, the Attempt would have been a Means of deterring others from the like Practices, and the Expence to the Province would have been too trifling to merit Conſideration.

I can, at preſent, only judge of the "Pleaſure it would give "you, to be able to join me in Opinion, that the Robbery of the "Eaſtern Treaſury had been brought to Light," by the great Pains which have been taken by a Committee of your Houſe to prove the contrary, and your Approbation of their Report. But I have, nevertheleſs, Reaſon to think, Gentlemen, that it will not be long before thoſe dark Clouds, which your Committee have raiſed to obſcure that Light, will be ſo effectually diſperſed, as to afford you an Opportunity of enjoying the Pleaſure you mention.

I ſhould have had more Satisfaction in your Reſolutions to ſupport Government, and to ſupply the King's Troops, had it not been for an Intimation, in a Meſſage which I have ſince received from you, that your "ſubſequent Conduct, in ſome Meaſure, depends "on my Determination" reſpecting the Removal of the Eaſtern Treaſurer. It is therefore proper that I now tell you, that tho' you ſhould with-hold the neceſſary Supplies for Government, yet if you hope, by ſo arbitrary an Exerciſe of your Power, to compel me to act contrary to my own Judgment, and the unanimous Advice of the Council, you will find yourſelves greatly diſappointed in your Expectations.---While I conceive that I am contending for a Matter that is juſt and reaſonable, and which not only concerns the Honour of Government, but the conſtitutional Rights of every Freeman in the Colony, I cannot act ſo inconſiſtently with my Duty as to give it up.

I ſhall be happy to ſee the Diſpoſition you profeſs, "to do every "Thing which can be reaſonably aſked, that may have a Tendency "to preſerve Harmony," manifeſted in the future Tranſactions of this Seſſion. You may be aſſured that I ſhall not aſk any Thing of you, but what you may grant conſiſtently with your Duty, and that I ſhall always be ready to oblige you, and the Province, in every Thing that is not inconſiſtent with mine."

Laſt Sunday Morning the Brig Prince of Wales, Captain Maſon, came up to Town from Reedy Iſland, where ſhe had been detained for ſome Time by the Ice.

On Monday Morning, about Two o'Clock, a Fire broke out in the Houſe of Mr. Thomas Badge, Tallow Chandler, in the Diſtrict of Southwark, and got to ſuch a Height before it was diſcovered, that it was with Difficulty the Family eſcaped with their Lives; the Dwelling-houſe and Work-ſhop, being Frame Buildings, were entirely conſumed. Happily there was little or no Wind at the Time, otherwiſe the adjoining Houſes muſt have ſuffered greatly.

FOR SALE,

THAT healthy, pleasant, and valuable plantation, in the township of Bristol, and county of Bucks, on which Joseph White resides, containing about 263 acres, about 96 of which are woodland, about 6 acres of apple-trees, about 34 acres of meadow, which does not require manure, the remainder fields for plowing, &c. the dwelling-house, near the center, stands high, and the fields and meadow may be viewed from the house, a large barn near the house, and very convenient to the fields and meadow, with cow-houses, sheep-house and cart-house, a large milk-house near the dwelling-house, supplied by a spring never known to fail.

Also a plantation adjoining to the above, in the tenure of John Wright, containing about 170 acres, on which is a dwelling-house and barn, a small orchard of apple-trees, about 65 acres of woodland, about 30 acres of meadow, the remainder chiefly fields for plowing. It is expected lime will suit the upland soil well.

These two plantations will be sold together, or separate; they lie near Delaware, about 5 miles from Bristol, and about 24 miles from Philadelphia.

One third part of the purchase-money being paid on signing the deed, a proportionable part of the remainder, being yearly paid, with interest, six years will be allowed for payment of the whole. For further information, apply to

For the ENTERTAINMENT of the CURIOUS.

MR. KINNERSLEY proposes (the weather being suitable) to exhibit his course of ELECTRICAL EXPERIMENTS, at the College, To-day and Friday next; and on Monday and Tuesday next week; to begin at six o'clock in the evening. In this course, consisting of only two lectures, above forty curious and interesting experiments will be exhibited, tending to shew the nature and properties of lightning, and, which is of the greatest importance, how to avoid the danger of it;-----how to secure houses, ships, &c. from receiving any damage by lightning.

The following particulars will, it is presumed, be thought no inconsiderable part of this Electrical Entertainment, viz. Flashes of real lightning visible under water. Iron heated red hot, and even melted by lightning, whilst under, and in contact with, common cold water. Experiments on that wonderful electric stone from the East-Indies, called the Tourmalin, which will become electrised by being dipt in boiling water; one side electrised positively, the other negatively. A curious representation of the astonishing electric Eel, lately seen in this city, on touching of which, while in the water, an electric shock may be as sensibly felt, as from a live one. A representation of part of the starry heavens, exhibiting a variety of beautiful electric stars.

As the knowledge of Nature tends to enlarge the human mind, and give us more noble and exalted ideas of the AUTHOR of Nature, and, if well pursued, seldom fails producing something useful to man; it is hoped that an entertainment of such a tendency will meet with suitable encouragement. Those Gentlemen and Ladies who purpose to attend these lectures, are requested to be furnished with tickets, that no money may be taken at the door. Tickets may be had at the bar of the London Coffee-house, and at Mr. Kinnersley's house, near the College, at HALF A DOLLAR for each lecture.

N. B. Electrical Experiments cannot be well exhibited in damp or wet weather; therefore if either of the evenings above appointed should not prove dry enough, the exhibition must be deferred till some dry evening after. The first lecture of the course to be on Monday or Wednesday evenings; second lecture on Tuesday or Friday evenings.

 Next April Mr. KINNERSLEY expects to have room in his house to accommodate two or three more young Boarders for the College.

Plumſted, Bucks county, February 1, 1774.

PHILIP WOOD, my huſband, having advertiſed me, in the Pennſylvania Gazette, No. 2352, ſetting forth that I have for ſome time paſt behaved in a very unbecoming manner, particularly to him, and that I have eloped from him on account of ſome debates that have ſubſiſted between us, occaſions me to make this reply,----had he given the public a genuine account of the debates which he ſays ſubſiſted between us, he would have ſaved me the trouble of that diſagreeable taſk; but ſince he has acquainted the public of the ſhameful diviſion of his family, and laid all the odium upon me, I do now declare to the world, with a ſorrowful heart, that, were it in my power to live with him in peace, I would continue with him, even in the greateſt poverty or diſtreſs, as he is my huſband, as well for the fulfilling of my marriage vows, as for the credit of four children which are all his by me; but he has, for many years paſt, treated me with unkind ſcurrilous language, harſh ill names, and ſtruck me with iron pots, chairs, and even any thing that lay ready to his hand; he once beat me ſo unmercifully with a bridle, that I bore the marks of the blits for ſeveral weeks after;---he has abuſed his obedient dejected children, with ſuch harſh language and immoderate correction, and kept from them a ſufficient allowance of the neceſſaries of life, that not one of them is living with him at preſent, yea, it is well known that ſome of them thoſe rather ſeek their bread among ſtrangers, when almoſt in their infancy, than put up with the baſe and uncharitable uſage of their father, when at the ſame time his eſtate is worth about 15 or 16 hundred pounds.---Theſe intolerable grievances are the cauſe of the unhappy debates that ſubſiſted between us, and which cauſes me to decline living with him any longer, or returning to my place of abode, and to my duty, as he deceitfully expreſſes it;---that I eloped from him is a ſhameful falſhood, ſince it is well known he turned me and ſome of the children out of doors, burned a part of our clothes, and turned us off partly naked; and, when ſome of our neighbours, through pity to us, entreated him to let us return home, he abſolutely refuſed, and immediately bolted the door.---Thus have I given the public a ſhort account of the cauſe of our ſeparation, which I ſolemnly declare was not of my choice; for I am now an old woman, much enfeebled with hardſhip and grief, and not capable of procuring the neceſſaries of life; yet, rather than endanger my life by dwelling with him any longer, I am reſolved, with the advice of almoſt all my friends and neighbours, not to ſolicit him to let me return any more, but depend on the Providence of God and my poor weak induſtry for my ſuſtenance, during the few remaining days of my diſconſolate life. ANN WOOD. ¶
